Making Transplants Affordable

An initiative to enable underprivileged patients to undergo lifesaving transplants.

ABOUT ANUDAAN

Organ donations are increasingly becoming instrumental in saving lives, with organs being transplanted across diverse gender, caste, and religious identities in numerous Indian states. These acts of solidarity and generosity warrant celebration. However, amidst this inspiring narrative, there is a concerning reality. A significant number of organ failure patients are unable to benefit from these life-saving medical advancements. They lack the financial means to afford the transplant and subsequent follow-ups, thus depriving them of this option. It is crucial for more state governments to take steps towards making transplants affordable and providing support for post-transplant medication to patients. Until such measures are implemented, NGOs and similar entities must step in to bridge the gap.

The MOHAN Foundation has been tirelessly working to boost the rate of deceased organ donation in various states across India. Our initiative, "Anudaan: Making Transplants Affordable", is dedicated to aiding economically disadvantaged patients, especially children, ensuring they too have access to life-saving organ donation and transplantation services.

MOHAN Foundation started this initiative in 2021 since then it has supported over 66 cases all over India.

BABY MALEEHA

Maleeha, a six-month-old from Surat, needed a costly liver transplant, which her father's modest income couldn't cover. With the help of Anudaan and other NGOs, she had a successful transplant on August 8, 2023.

"I'm deeply touched and overjoyed to see my daughter doing well after enduring so much pain and suffering. Her steady recovery brings me immense happiness. I'm incredibly grateful to the MOHAN Foundation and wish them continued success"

– Faysal Malek, Father

BABY DIVYA

Divya, an eight-month-old from Aurad village in Karnataka, comes from a struggling family of five. Her father, a school driver, couldn't afford her liver transplant.

With help from Anudaan and other NGOs, Divya had a successful transplant on May 23, 2023, at Sahayadri Super Specialty Hospital in Pune.

"I express heartfelt gratitude to the Anudaan team of the MOHAN Foundation for their invaluable financial support, which saved my daughter's life. It's truly inspiring to hear about the impactful work they're carrying out."
